

NARR Mission

The mission of the National Association of Recovery Residences (NARR) is to create, evaluate and improve standards and measures of quality for all levels of recovery residences. NARR provides a forum for exchanging ideas, including development of a uniform nomenclature for our field, problem solving, training and advocacy.

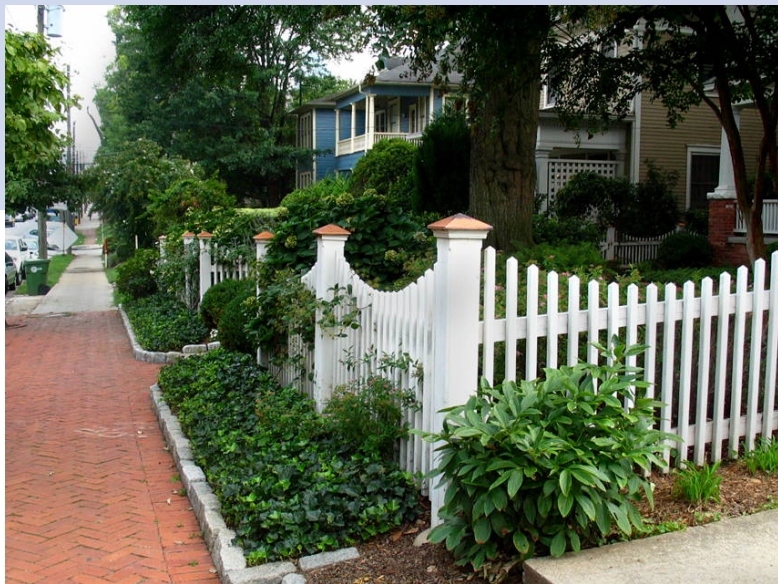

We assist existing regional associations in their growth, and foster the development of recovery residence associations where none exist. NARR is the national resource for recovery residence providers seeking standards, protocols for ethical practice, training and state of the art information pertaining to all levels of residential support.

The National Association of Recovery Residences (NARR) was formed in 2011 to fill a void in the field of addiction recovery services.

Many thousands of recovery residences exist in the United States. They have not had a national unified voice.

Until now.

NARR Benefits

- Universally accepted protocol for operating ethical, high quality recovery residences.
- Increased credibility through meeting a high level of uniform standards: NARR affiliates may display the NARR logo on communication materials, indicating adherence to the highest standards for recovery residences.
- Increased referral opportunities: Members will have widespread visibility through our website.
- Access to advocacy and technical resources, including protection of housing rights,
- Latest information on current trends and issues affecting recovery residences nationally,
- Participate in discussions, policy formation on issues affecting recovery residences nationally.
- Access quality mentorship resources from successful providers and regional organizations.

Be sure to visit our website,
www.narronline.com
for standards information, latest updates and information about becoming part of this exciting new organization.

contact NARR

5456 Peachtree Blvd., Suite 431
Atlanta, GA 30341
info@narronline.com
www.narronline.com

A national, unified voice for recovery residences